

www.mumstheword.com
Review posted February 2, 2009

Myville.com is a cute online world that is completely safe for kids. When I was asked to do this review, I went straight to the online world pro, my 12yo. She's tried them all. She's liked some, and some have just not been well reviewed. I gave her the temporary username and password and she went to work, checking out the site so I would know what to say about it.

She loves it! She had a blast picking a character, making her character a house and then playing games to earn money to buy things for her character. She really likes having her virtual pet to play with and take care of (since mean old Mom won't allow pets anymore) and I really like that it's a safe place for her to hang out online.